

DEFRAGMENTING OBJECTS IN A STORAGE MEDIUM

ABSTRACT

Provided are a method, system and program for defragmenting objects in a storage medium. An I/O request to an object in storage is received and the object is defragmented in storage so that blocks in storage including the object are contiguous in response to receiving the I/O request. The I/O request is executed with respect to the object in storage.